Continuation of 11. does NOT place the application in condition for allowance because: The claim amendments when taken together with Applicants arguments overcome the art rejections of record. The claim amendments when taken together with Applicants arguments overcome the portions of the 112 1st paragraph enablement and written description rejections as they pertain to other starch biosynthesis genes other than starch synthase II or starch synthase III. However, the claim amendments do not address nor overcome the 112 1st paragraph rejections as they apply to multitudes of sequences that may be considered as either a potato starch synthase II or a potato starch synthase III gene when absent a SEQ ID NO:. Applicant's urge that one of skill in the art would appreciate and understand which sequences constitute a potato starch synthase II or a potato starch synthase III gene. This is not persuasive because Applicants do not teach the features of the SEQ ID NOs that are required for starch synthase II or starch synthase III function. Due to the nature of the invention requiring a particular starch content, the activity of the starch synthases used and therefore the exaxt SEQ ID NO: used is crucial to obtaining the starch as claimed by the instant application. The cited art shows unpredictability with starch synthase genes when the sequence is altered, and therefore it would be undue experimentation to evaluate all SEQ ID NOs that may be considered potato starch synthase III or potato starch synthase III for their ability in antisense constructs to isolate the starch as broadly claimed in the instant claims..
